GETTING PREPPED
It’s easy to get distracted while studying. Loud roommates and a luring refrigerator can draw your attention away from homework. This week we have some tips to help you keep the gears in your head turning.

Studying in the Library
FIND YOUR INNER GENIUS

FIRST / FIND YOUR SPACE
Explore the library and find a place that suits you. There are 5 floors full of a variety of options (second floor south side plays classical music).

SECOND / LEARN FASTER
The library has Research Guides for every subject taught on campus. If you have a tough research paper just go to lib.byu.edu/guides and look up the topic. All the best resources are ready and waiting for you.

THIRD / ASK A LIBRARIAN
If you have a question, there are a lot of people in the library who are eager to help. Ask anyone at a desk and they can help you, or, if you prefer, you can chat online, e-mail, or call. Everything you need can be found at lib.byu.edu.

Testing Center
PRAYERS ARE ALLOWED
If you haven’t already, you will soon become familiar with the testing center. Most of your classes will require you to take exams and finals here. So we’ve got some tips for you to make sure you’re ready.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW:
+ Food is not allowed in the testing room. Treat yourself afterward!
+ Check the status of the line on your BYU App or by clicking HERE.
+ You must turn your cell phone off. If you are caught with it, you will be dismissed and your test unscored.
+ There is a music room upstairs from the main testing room. You can let the classical music calm your nerves while you test.
+ Make sure you follow the dress and grooming standards! Men who haven’t shaved will not be allowed to take a test, nor girls in leggings.
+ Find Testing Center hours and other information HERE.
