THE END IS NEAR!
You may feel overwhelmed with projects, papers, homework, and exam prep. We have some tips to help keep stress at a minimum.

Wrapping It Up
FINISHING THE SEMESTER RIGHT
It’s important to finish every semester strong. Sometimes it gets easy to forget what you need to do, so we left you some tips here to help you out:

1. Check Learning Suite. Make sure all assignments are accounted for.
2. Meet with your TA/professor. It’s never too late to ask!
3. Start now! Just do it! Start those final projects and papers now!
4. Create a study group. Make new friends and get your homework done.
5. Start reviewing for your final exams now!

Student Ratings
HELP YOUR PROFESSORS
The Student Rating system allows students to confidentially rate their BYU learning experience. President Worthen has said, “We need your input. Student evaluations of BYU faculty and courses are extremely important.”

IMPROVEMENT
Faculty are expected to review them to improve their courses and teaching methods.

EFFECTIVENESS
Department chairs are expected to review them annually with faculty to assess teaching effectiveness.

PROMOTION
University committees consider them carefully as part of faculty reviews to determine who is retained and promoted.

BYU STANDARDS
Please be honest, fair, and constructive as you complete your evaluations.

It only takes a few minutes to do. Fill out your ratings HERE.
